A noble purpose gives meaning to one's own life and is of benefit to others. I realised this while researching on and writing about the life of Jamshedji Tata. What gave one man living in a colonised country the vision to advance it in the community of nations? He not only gave India the power to steel and hydroelectric energy, but also an institution of research.

He sent an educationist to Europe and the United States to report on what should be the best model for India. The John Hopkins University in Baltimore was recommended as the model. But Jamshedji Tata made it a point to see that his name was not associated with the university. After his death, his dream came true with the establishment of the Indian Institute of Science in Bengaluru. It was to be fountain head of science in the decades to come.

There are others too whose purpose in life has made a difference to society. Mother Teresa had a comfortable life at Loretto Convent, Kolkata. On a train journey to Darjeeling, she felt her 'calling' and wanted to give up her comfortable life in the convent and serve the poor and the needy.

After that, she took a three month nursing course and returned to Kolkata. She devoted her time to the sick and homeless. Touched by her sacrifice, some of her students joined her and the work began. Not everyone has such a strong calling. When I asked her how one could be sure of one's calling, she replied, "Deep down in our hearts* we know exactly what our calling is, if we are sincere.”

One’s purpose is shaped over a period of time, but every noble purpose is based on a feeling for the suffering of others and our desire for alleviating that condition.

- (i) Bring out the unique character traits of Jamshedji Tata.
- (ii) Why did he send an educationist to Europe and the USA?

- (vi) How can we find our calling?
- (vii) Is it possible to find one’s calling within a short period? Why/Why not?
- (viii) Find the word in Para 4 which means the same as ‘lessening’.

(OR)

And I did not speak out Because I was not a trade unionist Then they
